IMPORTANT! YOUR CLAIM MUST BE SIGNED AND DECLARED AS TRUE UNDER PENALTY OF PERJURY.

You Must Fill Out the Form Completely.

Information You Should Consider Before Filing a Wage Claim

If you feel your rights under the Payday Law have been violated, you may file a wage claim. Your wage claim cannot be accepted if:

- Your wage claim is not filled out completely, legibly, and accurately. The claim should identify each type of unpaid wage claimed, and how you determined the amount due to you. If there is insufficient information on the wage claim to contact the employer, your claim will be returned or dismissed.
- Your wage claim is not signature or without a completed declaration that the information is true, under penalty of perjury.
- You are an "independent contractor" and not an "employee" of the business.
(if you are unsure, file a claim and we will determine if you were an independent contractor or an employee)
- You were employed by a close relative (such as: mother, grandfather, or father-in-law).
(if you are unsure, file a claim and we will review the circumstances)
- Your employer filed for bankruptcy.
(if you are unsure, file a claim but you may also need to file proof of claim directly with the Bankruptcy Court)
- You were employed by the federal government, the state, or a political subdivision of the state.
- Your wages are subject to a binding arbitration or collective bargaining agreement or contract.
(if you are unsure, file a claim and include the agreement or contract and we will review the circumstances)
- Your wage claim is filed later than the 180th day after the date the unpaid wages were due to be paid.
(if you are unsure, file a claim and include the agreement or contract and we will review the circumstances)
- Your wage claim is for subsequent pay periods. You can amend this claim prior to a preliminary wage determination order. Do not file another wage claim.
- You file against more than one employer on one claim form for a different pay period.
- Your wage claim is not for wages but for expenses, reimbursements or automobile allowances.

Wage problems can often be cleared up by discussing them with your employer. For additional information go to: twc.texas.gov/jobseekers/how-submit-wage-claim-under-texas-payday-law. Before filing a claim for unpaid wages, you may want to advise your employer that the Texas Payday Law, Title 2, Chapter 61, Texas Labor Code provides that:

1. Your employer must pay you at least once a month if you are not subject to the overtime provisions of the Fair Labor Standards Act. All others must be paid at least semimonthly.
2. If you are absent on payday, you are entitled to be paid at your request on a regular business day.
3. If you leave your work for a reason other than by discharge, you must be paid in full not later than the next regularly scheduled payday.
4. If discharged, you must be paid in full not later than the sixth day after termination.
5. Bonuses or wages paid on a commission basis are due in a timely manner, according to the terms of agreement entered into between employee and employer.
6. You may be entitled to unpaid wages for unused "fringe benefits" (vacation, holiday, sick leave, parental leave, or severance pay), only if your employer provides for these benefits in a written policy or agreement.
7. Your wages may be withheld only if the employer:
 - a. Is ordered to do so by a court;
 - b. Is authorized by state or federal law (e.g. payroll taxes); or
 - c. Has your written authorization to make the deductions.
